

COURSE OF CYANIDE SPILL THROUGH S/E EUROPEAN RIVERS (DANUBE BASIN) (Lapos, Szamos, Tisza, Danube)*

* The pollution occurred on 30 January 2000. As a consequence, nearly 100'000 m³ of polluted water with a high cyanide concentration reached the watercourses of the Lapos, Szamos, Tisza and Danube Rivers over the next 14 days.

Sources: Digital Chart of the World, ESRI; Hungarian Ministry of Interior; Hungarian Ministry of Environment; Romanian Ministry of Waters, Forest and Environmental Protection; WCMC Protected Areas Database.

The boundaries and names shown and the designations used on this map do not imply official endorsement or acceptance by the United Nations.